CARRYING CASE 112

The "Tandberg Instrumentation Tape Recorder Series 100" is a portable, high quality analog tape recorder. To make the transportation safer for the recorder and more convenient for the user, the "Carrying Case 112" is among the accessories available.

Besides the main function of protecting the recorder, all the standard accessories including the service and instruction manuals can be placed in a separate compartment in the "Carrying Case 112".

The case is rugged and made of a very strong fiber material to stand rough handling. The recorder is inside the case, gently supported in a framework made of Etafoam.

The top of the case is retained by snap-on locks that are easy to operate. When the top is removed, the recorder is ready for use, and cables can be connected to all the terminals. Thus the protecting function of the "Carrying Case 112" is combined with the ease of operation.
